TOMAS HIRSCHFELD AND FACSS STUDENT AWARDS

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Tomas Hirschfeld Scholar(s) and the FACSS Student Awards recognize the most outstanding papers submitted for the SciX Conference by a graduate student. Recipients will receive financial support to help them attend the SciX Conference which is presented by FACSS. In order to have your presentation considered for a Tomas Hirschfeld Scholar Award or FACSS Student Award, students should submit their abstract using the SciX web site submission form and indicate on the dropdown menu on the form their interest in these awards.

Instructions: Complete this form and submit all of the following listed below in one pdf and email by April 30 to facss@facss.org:

- a) this form;
- b) 350 word abstract of the proposed presentation for the SciX conference;
- c) two letters of nomination, one by the student's mentor. An explanation of the inventive contributions by the student to the work should be given. Creativity was a primary characteristic of Tomas's work, and thus should be a characteristic of the awardee.
- d) a copy of the candidate's résumé;
- e) a copy of the candidate's graduate transcript;
- f) copies of reprints and/or preprints of research accomplished.
- g) The recipients will be included in a session highlighting young scientists and their work.

Deadline April 30.
